Summer Arts Festival Has Successful Debut

"Trinity Alive," the College's summer arts festival, concluded its inaugural season on July 30. The seven week program, which encompassed theatre, dance, film, art exhibits, free concerts and credit and non-credit courses, generated tremendous enthusiasm in the greater Hartford community as well as on the campus itself.

The festival's centerpiece was Summerstage, which attracted almost 10,000 people to the Goodwin Theatre. The Summerstage company, composed of professional and student actors, performed Anthony Shaffer's "Sleuth," Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night," and Preston Jones' "The Oldest Living Graduate." Particularly well received were three plays for children by the Traveling Playhouse of New York, which were sold out for every performance.

Dance was a major component of "Trinity Alive." Assistant Professor of Dance Judy Dworin headed a staff which included guest artists in Tai Chi and English country dancing. Credit and non-credit courses for amateurs were supplemented by performances by professional companies such as the Hartford Ballet and the Dance Alliance.

For the last 28 years, summer at Trinity has meant Wednesday evening carillon concerts. The warm weather and general atmosphere of excitement on the campus drew record crowds to the quadrangle for eleven successive weeks. The Chapel was also the site of four chamber music concerts and the premier performance in this country of the St. Hallvard Boys' Choir of Oslo, Norway.

College Awarded $250,000 By Kresge Foundation

The Kresge Foundation of Troy, Michigan has awarded Trinity a $250,000 challenge grant toward the building expansion of the College Library. The gift, which will be credited toward the $12 million Campaign for Trinity Values, is one of the largest received thus far by the College for the Library project.

The Kresge Foundation was created through the gifts of the late Sebastian S. Kresge, founder of the S.S. Kresge Company, now known as K mart Corporation. During the last 54 years, the Kresge Foundation has made appropriations of more than $283 million to institutions in the fields of higher education, health services, the arts, social welfare, and the care of the young and aging. Construction and major renovation of facilities are the Foundation's primary concerns, and grants are usually made on a challenge basis to encourage further fund-raising efforts.

The Library addition will provide 250 seating spaces, shelving for 250,000 volumes, and 2,650 square feet of work space. Construction is expected to begin in the fall, and is estimated to cost $3,000,000. The Kresge Foundation conditioned the grant on Trinity's obtaining the balance of the funds by September 15, 1978. President Lockwood expressed optimism in the College's ability to meet this challenge.

100th Anniversary Of Trinity Football

The opening of the football season on September 24 will begin the celebration of the 100th anniversary of Trinity College football. One hundred years ago, in the Fall of 1877, Trinity sent its first intercollegiate football squad against Yale University for its only game. The legendary Walter Camp was a member of that Yale team which beat the Bantam eleven despite being surprised and confused by the tight canvas jerseys greased with lard which the Trinity men wore. The Ivy Leaguers were able to tackle the slippery Bantams well enough to prevent any scores while they produced 13 touchdowns and seven goals (points after).

Yale proved to be an always tough opponent for the Trinity gridders. The Elis defeated the Bantams 18 straight times from 1877 to 1917, and there was a zero under Trinity on the scoreboard at the end of every one of those games.

The early years were rough for Trinity football. As the College moved to its present site there was much student disapproval, and interest in athletics diminished; there was no varsity football team from 1879 through 1883.

final score, 43-43, stands as the highest tie score in the entire history of American intercollegiate football.

The first 100 years of Trinity College football have been interesting and enjoyable. There have been 92 seasons and 648 games played in the hundred year period. Twenty-five coaches have directed Bantam teams to 335 wins, 273 losses, and 40 ties against opponents ranging from Ivy League schools to New York Agricultural College and the Waterbury YMCA, Army, the traditional Little Three rivals and many other institutions, large and small.

The game, the College, and the competition have changed since 1877, but, as Trinity enters its second hundred years of football competition, the one thing that remains the same is the Trinity athlete. A scholar first, an athlete second, the Trinity football player lives in an environment which is not a stepping stone to professional sports. The "fun element" of athletic competition is vivid at Trinity, as it has been in the past, and will be in the future.

The 1977 season will provide a fine

Trinity did not win a football game until it defeated the Amherst Aggies (now the University of Massachusetts) 32-4 in 1887, the sixth football season in Trinity history. Twenty years later the Bantams won by their biggest margin ever with a 94-0 victory over the College of New York.

Trinity produced its first undefeated football team in 1911 with a record of six wins, zero losses, and two ties. The 1915 squad was also undefeated with a 5-0-2 record.

In 1932 Daniel E. Jessee became head coach of the Bantams and this began an important era in Trinity football. From 1932 through 1966, the 32 squads that Jessee coached won 150 games, while losing only 76 and tying seven. Only seven of the 32 teams had season records under the .500 mark, while four teams (1934, 1949, 1954, 1955) produced undefeated and untied records.

Trinity made the national record books in 1969 with a game against Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute. The setting for celebrating Trinity's football history. The four home games will showcase fine football competition against Bowdoin, and traditional rivals Williams, Coast Guard, and Wesleyan.

Three Named Full Professors

The College has announced the promotion of three members of the faculty to the rank of full professor. They are: Thomas Baird, professor of fine arts, part-time; Donald B. Galbraith, professor of biology; and Stephen Minot, professor of English, part-time.

Baird received the B.A. and the M.F.A. from Princeton. He has studied French 17th Century theatre design as a Fulbright Fellow in Paris. Prior to joining Trinity in 1970 he was associate director of Harvard University's

Town Gown Forum Explores Russia

Rounding out a decade of distinguished discussions, the Trinity community will again present a fall series of lectures called the "Town-Gown Forum." Last year the talks by faculty specialists centered on the American experience. This year the scene shifts to the land of the troika, the Kremlin and the Hermitage.

The five lectures on Russia will be opened on October 4 by Dr. Samuel Kassow, assistant professor of history, describing "Russia: Enigma Within a Riddle." The talk will examine the highlights of Russian history and demonstrate that, contrary to popular opinion, Russia can be understood.

On October 11, Dr. James West, assistant professor of history, will examine "Patterns of Russian History Through the Eyes of the Artist." He will explore major themes of Russian history through the country's little known art masterpieces.

A second lecture by Dr. Kassow "The Soviet Union: Continuity and Change" on October 18, will discuss the achievements of the Soviet State, the price paid and prospects for the future.

Dr. Samuel Hendel, professor of political science, will take the audience behind the scenes on October 25 as he analyzes "Some Basic Myths and Realities," including the claimed superiority of the Soviet political, economic and social systems.

On November 1, Dr. Robert A. Battis, professor and chairman of economics, will cast an eye on the problems post-Stalin Russia faces as it tries to reconcile "Central Planning and a Declining Rate of Growth" with the demands for a wide spectrum of new products and a high rate of growth.

Finally, Dr. Michael Sacks, assistant professor of sociology moves into the everyday world with "Work, Marriage and Children: Problems and Patterns of Everyday Life." The November 8 talk will describe the wrenching dislocations caused by the transition from a peasant culture to that of the monolithic Soviet State.

The Town-Gown Lectures, sponsored by the wives of Trinity faculty; alumni, administrators, and friends, are given on successive Tuesdays at 1:30 p.m. in the Goodwin Theatre of the Austin Arts Center. Registration fee for the series is $15. Inquiries should be directed to Mrs. Jonathan Burr, Trinity College, telephone 527-3151, Ext. 275.

CAMPUS NOTES

Dr. DAVID L. REINER, assistant professor of mathematics, and DAVID AHLGREN, assistant professor of engineering, presented papers at the Fifth Annual Conference on Instructional Computing held at Dartmouth College. Professor Reiner presented a paper, "Algorithmic Methods in Computer Calculus," and Professor Ahlgren presented one entitled "The Use of DYNAMO in an Undergraduate Systems Analysis Course." The conference, sponsored jointly by Dartmouth and NERCOMP (New England Regional Computing Program) heard presentations from faculty of several other New England schools, including Yale, Dartmouth, University of Connecticut and the University of Vermont.

A paper entitled "Current Party and Internal Group Influences in Connecticut Politics" by Dr. CLYDE D. MCKEE, associate professor of political science, will be presented at the November meeting of the Northeastern Political Science Association as part of a panel called "Patterns in State Politics."

Dr. SAMUEL D. KASSOW '66, assistant professor of history, and JOHN J.H. CHATFIELD '64, lecturer in history, appeared on Connecticut Public Television, Channel 24, and discussed a recent trip to Russia.

Dr. EUGENE E. LEACH, assistant professor of history and director of the American Studies Program, also appeared on Connecticut Public Television, Channel 24, on a panel discussion that followed the third Frost-Nixon interview.

An article entitled "Sexual Equality in Soviet Russia" by Dr. MICHAEL SACKS, assistant professor of sociology, appeared in the July-August issue of Society. Sacks recently read a paper, "Soviet Youth in Transition: The Impact of Social Change on Early Career Patterns," at the annual meeting of the New England Slavic Association. He has also been awarded a short-term grant for research at the Keenan Institute for Advanced Russian Studies in Washington, D.C.

Dr. WARD S. CURRAN, professor of economics, was a discussant at a meeting of the Regional Eastern Finance Association regarding research in various areas of finance.

Macmillan Publishing Co. recently published the third edition of Modern Spanish Prose and Poetry by Dr. GUSTAVE W. ANDRIAN, professor of modern languages. Macmillan also plans to produce a book Andrian worked on during his sabbatical last semester.

Dr. ARNOLD L. KERSON, associate professor of modern languages, recently presented a talk at Trinity entitled "El concepto utopico do Rafael Landivar en la Rustication-Mexicana" before the Connecticut Chapter of the American Association of Teachers of Spanish and Portuguese. Kerson also delivered a paper before the Spanish American literature section of the Northeast Modern Language Association at the University of Vermont entitled "Diego Jose Abad, humanista mexicano del siglo XVIII."

Dr. PHILIP C.F. BANKWITZ, professor of history, has been awarded a grant-in-aid for a post-doctoral research project entitled "Edouard Deladier and Pierre-Etienne Flandin" by the American Council of Learned Societies. The grants-in-aid were awarded to one hundred seven scholars from eighty-three academic institutions and were made possible by grants from The Ford Foundation and the National Endowment for the Humanities.

Dr. CHRISTOPHER J. SHINKMAN, director of Career Counseling, toured McGraw-Hill, Inc. in New York City and met with senior officers of the corporation as part of the Douglas O. Hanau Memorial Intern Program of the Eastern College Personnel Officers.

Three members of the Fine Arts Department have been represented in recent exhibitions.

Graphics by ROBERT CALE, visiting artist in studio arts, were shown in the Lions Gallery of the Senses for the visually-impaired at the Wadsworth Atheneum.

Paintings by GEORGE CHAPLIN, associate professor and director of studio arts, were exhibited in Bonn, Germany and The Hague, The Netherlands in an Art in Embassies Program sponsored by the U.S. State Department. Chaplin also had a one-man exhibit at the Hampshire College Gallery in Amherst, Massachusetts.

STEPHEN WOOD, artist in residence, was represented at the New Britain Museum of American Art in an exhibition entitled "Apperceptions."

Dr. GARY C. JACOBSON, associate professor of political science, wrote an introduction to a pamphlet entitled "The 95th Congress and its Committees" for the Center for Information on America. Also, he delivered a paper at the annual meeting of the Public Choice Society in New Orleans entitled "Campaign Spending and Voter Awareness of Congressional Candidates." An article which appeared in the Winter, 1976 edition of "Public Policy" entitled "Practical Consequences of Campaign Finance Reform: An Incumbent Protection Act?" has been selected for inclusion in the "Policy Studies Review Annual."

Jacobson, who will be on sabbatical leave for the 1977-78 academic year, will present a paper entitled "Reforming Campaign Finance: the Incumbency Problem" at a conference at the University of Southern California. He also plans to complete a book on money in congressional elections.

TWO SUMMER PROGRAMS

National Youth Sports Program

For the eighth consecutive summer, Trinity hosted the National Youth Sports Program, providing recreation, social activities and instruction for over 250 Hartford youngsters.

Funded by the Federal Community Services Administration, in affiliation with the National Collegiate Athletic Association, the program is designed to serve disadvantaged youngsters from the cities. Trinity was one of the 145 institutions of higher education operating within NYSP this summer, and the only program site in Connecticut.

Richard J. Hazelton, assistant professor of physical education, served as Program Director, heading a staff of 12 coaches and physical educators, 12 college student athlete aides and a nurse.

The participants, ages 10 to 18, were provided with daily bus transportation and lunch, medical care and insurance. Instruction in 13 sports was available, along with programs emphasizing social responsibility, good nutrition and hygiene.

Two visits by Hartford Mayor George Athanson were among the highlights of the summer. A group of 90 youngsters visited the NYSP at American International College in Springfield for competition in basketball, swimming, softball, track, and dance.

Upward Bound

The Trinity College campus was host this summer to the fifth annual Upward Bound Program. This program, funded by the U.S. Office of Education, is designed to prepare low income students for enrollment in post-secondary educational institutions.

One hundred high school students from the City of Hartford participated in the program. Almost all of these students lived in the housing units set up in Elton and Jones dormitories, but there were several who commuted to the campus each day of the six week (June 27 — August 5), five day-a-week program.

An academic atmosphere prevailed as all students were enrolled in four classes which met daily in the Life Sciences Center. Available topics of study were English, mathematics, science, social studies and Spanish, with several individual courses found under each topic. A major addition to this summer's program was the fact that there was a laboratory open for all the science classes.

The afternoon activity period involved the students in either college/career counselling sessions, academic tutoring, or recreational activities ranging from tennis and basketball to radio communication and modern dance.

In the evenings the students had a supervised study period followed by evening programs which were either popular movies, speakers such as college administrators, or cultural events such as attendance of the Summerstage productions at the Austin Arts Center. A student talent show was held at the end of the program for the purpose of raising money for an Upward Bound scholarship.

The staff, headed by Director William Guzman, provided much

A prolific author, he has written eight novels, the latest being "The Way to the Old Sailors Home."

Baird

Galbraith

Minot

Galbraith came to Trinity in 1962. He received the B.S. from Grove City College and the Sc.M. and the Ph.D. from Brown University. He is a specialist in developmental genetics and his research has included studies of hair growth, the genetic control of pigmentation in mammals, and interactions between embryonic tissues during development. The recipient of numerous fellowships and awards, he is currently conducting research with support from the National Center for Toxicological Research. Many of his articles have appeared in scientific journals.

Minot has taught at Trinity since 1959. He is the author of three books and more than 20 published short stories and articles. Minot received the A.B. from Harvard College and the M.A. from Johns Hopkins University. Prior to joining the Trinity faculty, he taught at Johns Hopkins, Bowdoin College and the University of Connecticut. He is the recipient of a fellowship awarded by the National Endowment for the Arts for 1976-77. Minot's most recent book is a collection of short stories entitled "Crossings, Stories by Stephen Minot." He has been published in the Atlantic Monthly, Redbook, The Ladies Home Journal, The Kenyon Review, and Harpers, among others.

FACULTY FORUM

Which China?

By Ranbir Vohra
Charles A. Dana Professor of Political Science

With Secretary of State Vance in Peking, a host of contradictory opinions have been publicly expressed on what action America should take regarding China and Taiwan. Those who advocate a speedy "normalization" of relations with the People's Republic of China (PRC) would still like to see the U.S.-Taiwan ties remain unbroken at the unofficial level, but are not quite clear how that can be done.

The others, who feel strongly that Taiwan should not be treated as an expendable pawn, would also like the establishment of full diplomatic relations with Peking but only after ensuring that the Taiwan ties are vigorously maintained. Some of the main issues have been confused by both sides and need to be clearly articulated.

The legal issue is rather clearcut: By accepting that "all Chinese on either side of the Taiwan Strait maintain there is but one China and that Taiwan is a part of China," and by recognizing that Peking, not Taipei, is the capital of China, American relations with Taiwan have, of necessity, to undergo a radical change. "Normalization," therefore, means no more than translating the above universally accepted fact into diplomatic practice — full recognition of Peking, and the derecognition of Taipei, as the legitimate government of China.

This action will automatically mean the annulment of the 1954 Washington-Taipei security treaty, and lead to the withdrawal of the American military from Taiwan.

Several questions arise: How far was the Nationalist government in Taiwan led to declare continually that it was the legal government of all China because of the American desire, during the cold war, that such a fiction be maintained? Do all Taiwanese agree that Taiwan is a part of China? Would America accept this formula in the case of Korea?

The unspoken hope of those who are pushing for "normalization" is that Taiwan will not be invaded by the PRC and that unofficial American ties will keep it developing economically and socially in the direction of a capitalist democracy, so that it will become an increasingly unattractive proposition for Peking to want to absorb it. In case China does reintegrate Taiwan with the mainland it will, it is hoped, be a long time before this happens. By then Americans will no longer feel responsible for Taiwan.

Believers in Realpolitik see in "normalization" a pressure tactic that will force Moscow to reach for greater accommodation with the U.S. and settle bilateral problems on American terms. They also believe that "normalization" will not only bring Peking closer to Washington but will strengthen PRC's antagonistic stand against Russia. There is, however, a serious flaw in this thinking. In any triangular power balance stability is possible only if all three powers are equidistant from each other. The drawing together of any two will demolish the balance. If Russia feels seriously threatened by a Sino-American "collusion" it may take some desperate action which may irreparably impair Russo-American detente. Then again if China does not improve relations with Russia it is, in a manner of speaking, left at the mercy of American goodwill. China will have no leverage against America and no diplomatic flexibility. Peking has to, and sooner or later surely will, establish better relations with Moscow.

Japan, South Korea and the Southeast Asian states are anxious to see America remain a credible power in the West Pacific. "Normalization" may not only weaken the American presence in this area but may lead Taiwan to counter the situation by developing ties with Russia.

A most important issue, which gets clouded by the legal and the Realpolitik aspects of the case, is the moral issue.

America must not appear to sacrifice friends of long standing, especially weak ones, for political expediency; Taiwan is far more successful as a developing society than China, it is more democratic than China, and definitely anti-Communist and so a part of the "free world" America claims to protect; Taiwan has a better record of "human rights" than China; Taiwan over the last quarter century has developed close cultural, social and economic ties with America that cannot be cut off casually; and how would a break with Taiwan be seen by America's other allies? Would they continue to believe in the sanctity of American treaties?

Is the situation impossible to solve? Not really. Though the Chinese insist that the U.S. break diplomatic relations with Taiwan and withdraw troops from there, they are in no position to dictate to Taiwan or to non-official Americans. Peking, itself, has recommended the Japanese formula according to which an American representative can replace the embassy in Taipei to handle commercial and consular affairs. Except for the problem of supplying arms directly, the Americans can, no doubt, continue to carry on other activities as heretofore. It may come as a surprise to some that since Japan broke off diplomatic relations with Taiwan trade and other contacts between the two countries have not only not diminished, but have grown considerably.

The future of Taiwan will depend to a great extent on the Taiwanese themselves. If they continue to progress the way they have been and decide to develop an independent identity they will have the sympathy of many.

In any case the time has come to cut the China Gordian knot. Is President Carter the Alexander we have all been waiting for?

individualized work for the students. Ten academic teachers made for a low ratio of approximately ten students per teacher. There were ten residential counselors who supervised the dorms, led activities, and provided academic assistance.

At the conclusion of the program all the students were given the opportunity to experience some outdoor survival education at the Wilderness School run by Wesleyan University in New Fairfield, Connecticut. Guzman feels that this is a valuable type of experience and expresses hope that it can be a part of the program every year.

Annual Giving Sets $500,000 Goal

Annual Gifts in the range of $500,000 will again be needed to sustain the quality of Trinity's academic program this year. The annual appeal for unrestricted support will be made by many volunteers including trustees, class agents and other alumni, parents, friends, and student phonothon workers.

The Annual Giving Campaign opens in late September and concludes June 30, 1978.

Chairman of the Annual Giving Campaign is Douglas T. Tansill '61, first vice president of White, Weld & Company, and an alumnus trustee of the College. National Chairman of the Alumni Fund is Thomas C. DePatie '52, senior marketing manager for IBM, and also an alumnus trustee. DePatie served as Alumni Fund chairman during the 1976-77 campaign.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Thomas Melly, parents of Thomas L. Melly '80, are serving as chairmen of The Parents Fund. Mr. Melly is a partner of Goldman, Sachs & Company.

James B. Lyon is serving a second term as Chairman of The Friends of Trinity Fund. Mr. Lyon, an Amherst alumnus, is a partner in the law firm of Murtha, Cullina, Richter & Pinney.

Morrison H. Beach, chairman of The Travelers Insurance Companies, and a charter trustee of Trinity, is Chairman of the Business and Industry Associates.

Student representatives to the Alumni Fund are three members of the senior class: Kenneth S. Grossman, Alexander M. Moorrees, and Deborah J. Sikkell. They will organize major phonothons during the year on behalf of the Alumni Fund.

Goals totaling $500,000 have been established as follows: Alumni Fund, $305,000; Parents Fund, $100,000; Business & Industry Associates, $65,000, and Friends of Trinity Fund, $30,000.

In 1976-77, Annual Gifts totaling $426,596 were received from these sources.

According to President Lockwood, "The continuing generosity of many individuals is one of the main reasons for Trinity's strength today. We are especially grateful to those who have recently responded to the College's annual and capital fund-raising appeals. During the past few years, as everyone close to the College knows, Trinity has been engaged in its most ambitious fund-raising program, seeking new endowment and support for a library addition as well as our ongoing Annual Giving. Now, as the capital campaign draws to a close, there is the opportunity to increase the resources available for the academic program through Annual Giving."

Farmington, CT 06032

BAYARD SNOW shows off his poetic talent by sending us the following: "Writing a little, for the few who still read; Slowing a little, losing my speed; Helping a little, those who have need; Hurting a little, when cut I still bleed; Living a little, so far I succeed."

Congratulations to The Rev. PAUL ROBERTS who celebrated his 90th birthday on August 3rd. Since 1929, except during World War II, he has conducted the Sunday services at Christ Church, Harwich Port, Massachusetts.

15 Mr. William B. Pressey

Hanover, NH 03755

We had a note from the wife of The Rev. BERTRAM SMITH letting us know that he suffered a stroke in September of 1976 and, after many stays in hospitals, he is now in a nursing home and doing fairly well. If anyone wishes to contact Bert, messages or cards could be sent to Mrs. Smith at 826 Green Hill Road, Dallas, Texas 75232.

23 Mr. James A. Calano

CONNIE GESNER, AB NEWTON, IKE NEWELL and JIM CALANO represented your Class at the 22nd Annual Immortals Dinner held May 27th at the College. Also present were Claudia Gesner, Alice Newton, Lucile Marvin, Lorraine DiLorenzo and Christine O'Connell, the latter three being relatives of Jim's. A good time was had by all. It was great to be back on campus again. The Class of '27 was officially inducted into the Immortals Club.

JOE MANION helps out high school students in San Diego, California with their Greek, Latin and French. Joe also speaks Spanish fluently. He claims that in his territory Spanish is a "very helpful adjunct in business, love and whatnot." I think I'll take up Spanish.

JIM SEELEY has retired after having been in the insurance business since 1922. He has moved to Northfield, Minnesota to be near his son's family and to indulge in good fishing. Congratulations to the Seeleys on reaching their 53rd wedding anniversary.

We are saddened by the passing of JOE FOLEY on July 14th. Joe had conducted a very successful travel agency in Hartford since 1926. He was one of the 15 football players who invaded Princeton, New Jersey in the Fall of 1919 and held the powerful Princeton team to a 21 to 0 score, which was a moral victory for Trinity. We extend our deep condolence to Mrs. Foley.

We extend our deepest sympathy and condolences to IKE NEWELL upon the demise of his beloved wife, Marie, who passed away in July. You will all recall that Marie was really one of us as she served in the President's office during the 20's. She was very close to the student body, being always very cooperative and understanding of our problems.

25 Mr. Raymond A. Montgomery

MOE LISCHNER, the old reliable, is still practicing medicine; that is what keeps him going. I had a nice chat with him on the telephone recently and he sure is alert and full of pep. Your Secretary, his wife, Olga, and Betty Noble had a nice visit with KEN SMITH and his wife, Emmy, at Cooperstown in July. Ken performed again this summer in the local opera and is still "hitting the ball" full time at the Baseball Hall of Fame. GEORGE MALCOLM-SMITH was featured in the Hartford Courant Magazine recently in a four page spread telling about his "man-about-town" image, his personal exploits, his interest in jazz music and his collection of jazz records, probably the best and most complete in the world. George has varied interests and is a regular volunteer in hospital services and took part in the Spring Warehouse Bonanza Sale staged by the Hartford Hospital Auxiliary. Your Secretary and his wife spent three days with TED and Elizabeth JONES at their home at Yarmouth Port, Cape Cod, and while there attended the Annual Cape Cod Trinity Party at the SHERMAN PARKER's '22. It was nice to meet Sherm's new wife, Katie, whom we enjoyed very much.

DAVE HADLOW and the TONY TRAINERS (Honorary '25) are looking forward to the football season as are the JOHN AINLEYS, the MOE LISCHNERS, the KEN SMITHS, the MONTGOMERYS and JOHN DORAN '22, the old Trinity lineman. The Class of 1925 congratulates the freshman lightweight crew for winning at the Dad Vail Regatta at Philadelphia this year and being named National Intercollegiate Champions, College Division, for 1977. Your Secretary and his wife are very happy that their grandson, David Hobson, decided on Yale College instead of a school on the West Coast. Dave, who lives in Portland, Oregon, was admitted on an early decision and will enter with the Class of 1981 this September.

Glad to hear that PAUL NORMAN '23 is recovered from a brief illness and hope to see him at one or more of the football games. Did you know that this year will be Trinity's One Hundredth Anniversary of football? Trinity, the 12th college in the United States to play a regular schedule, started football in 1877. I hope that Nineteen Twenty-Fivers will make it a point to come back to the Williams game on October 8th, and enjoy the Reunion/Homecoming Weekend.

26 Mr. N. Ross Parke

West Hartford, CT 06107

Summertime was vacation time for all of us to be sure, but how about you good classmates sending your Class Secretary word of what you are doing and how you are these days.

In this vein, we all hope that BEN WARNER's dear wife, Elizabeth, has been making good progress from the fall she suffered, and we hope that the NORM PITCHERS are doing better now that a glorious summer has brought much comfort and happiness to all.

We're grateful to hear from BOB NEWELL that he and his dear, Marion, summered at the beach and enjoy their leisure.

On the other side of the coin, we and many Trinitarians who were in college at the time of the twenties join in sending our deepest sympathy and prayerful love to the loved ones of BOB and Marion NEWELL and especially to Bob's brother, IKE '23, at the sudden loss of Ike's dearly beloved wife, Marie, who served many of us so well as she worked in our Trinity office at the time we matriculated.

Also, many of us share in the real loss of our good BILL WALSH on July 6th in Tucson, Arizona. Bill was a popular figure in our class as well as an excellent contributor in the Armed Services as prosecuting attorney at the Nuremburg War Crime Trials. We all send to his beloved wife, Dorothy Prescott Walsh, and his three sisters, our deepest sympathy and prayerful love.

To all, I hope you had a good summer and wish an ever promising future.

How tempus fugits! Just received the June/July Trinity Reporter and once again was notified it is time to get news in for the September issue. It can only be hoped that the New Trinity Immortals of 1927 will send in some tidbits for future use in our Class notes.

Chairman ANDY FORRESTER reports the birth of his second granddaughter through Andy '61.

I just happen to know that the STANLEY BELLS planned a Scandinavian trip this summer and that the BOB CONDITS spent a good part of the summer at Lake George, NY. ROGE HARTT and his wife were probably off to somewhere but for some reason or other, he does not tell me about it.

Your Secretary and his Missus spent a delightful two weeks with son, HUB '58, in Davis, Calif., where he is a candidate for a Ph.D. at the University of California at Davis. He toured us over all of Northern California and made our trip something never to forget.

So that's my news for the first fall issue and I only hope you fellows will send me some notes to pass on to classmates.

30 The Rev. Canon Francis R. Belden
411 Griffin Rd.
So. Windsor, CT 06074

Your Secretary regrets the lack of news for the Class of 1930 in recent issues and hopes classmates will send in word of happenings. Send them to the Alumni Office or to the writer.

BERNARD DIGNAM says he is now working only part-time, but the good doctor will find his patients won't let him retire completely. In fact he does more than practice medicine; he writes about it, recently using the Hartford Courant to express his opinion against the use of the controversial drug, "Laetrile."

REED MITCHELL, now emeritus professor of physics from Michigan Tech. University, has moved to Mallett, Maine 04656. His son, DAVID '75, and his wife, BETH FERRO '75, are both studying for their Ph.D. at Syracuse University.

32 Julius Smith, D.M.D.
242 Trumbull St.
Hartford, CT 06103

Judge WALTER SIDOR has retired from his Connecticut Superior Court position but will continue to hear cases as a senior judge of the same court on a part-time basis. "I plan to do some traveling and relaxing," he says. He will long be remembered as the judge who drew the ire of consumer advocates, including Ralph Nader, by allowing the merger of International Telephone and Telegraph Corporation with the Hartford Fire Insurance Company in 1972. He ruled Nader and the other plaintiffs had no legal standing to challenge the merger.

Also retired is our Class Treasurer BILL GRAINGER, who makes his new home at Route 1, Box 177, Readsboro, Vermont 05350.

ED LAWTON writes that he retired several years ago to Ellington, Florida and is busy with shuffleboard, dancing, bicycling, swimming, boating and fishing. Their sixth grandchild is on the way. They travel a lot in their Holiday Rambler travel trailer and expect to be at Trin for the 45th.

Early retirement came to NATE GLASSMAN, necessitated by cardiac problems, but each March 17 he recalls the frosh-soph battle in 1929 when he was tossed to the lower branches of an elm tree to hang our '32 banner in victory.

CUSHMAN REYNOLDS says he came to the Amherst game last year and seemed to be the only one around. There will be many more back in October for Reunion, Cush!

We received a note from FRED GEIGER who was elected chief judge of the 19th Judicial Circuit Lake and McHenry Counties, Illinois on January 1, 1977. He and his wife attended the marriage of their third child and only daughter, Diane, in Seattle, Washington in May.

HUGH CAMPBELL and DAVE GALINSKY will help Your Secretary on arrangements for Reunion. We need more volunteers so write and say you're included. Then stay for the Trinity trip to London the following week.

The Rev. JACK SHARKEY returned last April from his 12th three-week visit to the Episcopal Church in Haiti. This has become his "ministry in retirement." He helps to raise money to feed 200 children every day at St. Peter's School in Haiti — 2000 feet high in the mountains of this black, French-speaking Caribbean, free Republic.

We are at the stage where retirements are becoming quite common. BILL FARRELL retired from Aetna Life and Casualty on May 1st. He was regional government relations manager in the company's Boston office. BERT HOLLAND has announced his retirement from his position as vice president for resources at Wellesley after a most distinguished career and received kudos from others in educational administration. His wisdom, dedication and stamina were extolled.

The Reverend ALFRED B. ROLLINS gave the invocation at the installation of his son, Dr. Alfred B. Rollins, Jr., who was inaugurated as president of Old Dominion University of Norfolk, Virginia in February of this year. His grandson, John '71, was an attendant. We have just learned that DOUG GAY has remarried and has been so for the past few years.

Your president, CHUCK KINGSTON, made the local news in an account of his honoring of the senior members of the Trinity varsity football team each year by dinner and other festivities.

TONY PADDON, director of northern medical services for the International Grenfell Association in northern Newfoundland and Labrador, received the prestigious 11th annual Royal Bank of Canada award. The award, which is given to a person whose life has been dedicated to human welfare and the common good, consists of a check for $25,000 and a solid gold medal. He was cited as being instrumental in introducing modern medical facilities and services. Tony's birthday on July 10 marked his official retirement and the conclusion of a very distinguished career.

Jennifer and JOHN KELLY '34 recently toured the Florida Keys and stopped off to see MIMI MARQUET on their boat moored at the beautiful Indies Inn, Duck Key, Florida. Mimi says they both looked great. Also AL HOPKINS '40 and his wife, Jean, joined the Marquets and enjoyed some fishing on the boat. The Marquets are enjoying their eighth year at Duck Keys.

OLLIE JOHNSON and Jack Riege have won the Garvan Cup two years in a row at the Hartford Golf Club.

In a letter to ANDY ONDERDONK '34, ERIC PURDON writes that he was looking forward to visits from BILL WETHERILL who is now living in Chestertown on the Eastern Shore of Maryland, and BILL PAYNTER '37 and his wife, Jane, who were in Annapolis looking for a house as Bill has been transferred to Washington. Both would be 42-year reunions. Eric had just finished three months sprucing up his home for a House and Garden tour.

CHARLES GABLER has retired from Merck & Co., Inc., Rahway, New Jersey, after almost 36 years. He and his wife have moved to Ocean City, New Jersey. Charles has three sons, one of whom is married, and a seven-year-old daughter.

After serving as associate dean of two medical schools, ART JENSEN has retired to the mountains of North Carolina.

Mr. Robert M. Kelly
33 Hartford Ave.
Madison, CT 06443

STAN FISCHER now lives in Manila with his wife, Mila, who at their marriage brought to Stan's household seven distinguished Spanish family names. Stan and Mila are now in the travel business together and along with their 12-year-old son visited their three other children in the United States and England last December. Stan has had a varied career after a World War II stint with the U.S. Army in Australia, New Guinea, and the Philippines. After working with a sugar trading firm and with Prentice Hall, book publishers, he was employed by the American Chamber of Commerce of the Philippines for many years, serving as executive vice president and professional manager. Stan doubts he can make the 40th but would love to hear from his Trinity friends, '37 or otherwise.

AL DOTY reports he loves living in Naples, Florida where he has "headquartered" for seven years. His wife, Ruth, recently took second place in the Naples Country Club golf championship. Al is definitely planning to attend the 40th.

BILL HULL had a great winter in Sarasota, Florida, where BUD BAUER and his wife, Cynthia, visited last January. Bill recently attended the marriage of his son, Larry, who works for NASA at the Goddard Space Center. Our favorite Class Agent is definitely looking forward to the 40th Reunion.

HARRY SANDERS, ED LEHAN and Your Secretary along with spouses have started getting ready for the 40th by holding several pre-reunions, at one of which a long distance call was placed to GEORGE LEPAK in Alexandria, Virginia. George seemed pleased to hear from us but we suspect that the time of the call (somewhat in the wee hours) may have led his wife, Anne, to conclude that nothing much has changed with the passing years.

Let's everyone show at Trinity for the 40th, October 7, 8 and 9.

STURGE SHIELDS has retired after 30 years with the United Nations. He writes that he has now been liberated to do all those things he never had time for before. He spent two months in late spring camping through the Southwest, and spent a few days with JOHN and Irma TIEDEMAN in their beautiful home in Sun City, Arizona. He says in every way, he is having a ball.

FRANK BURKE, who is retired and living in Atlanta, Georgia, says when his wife decides to terminate her career with AT&T, they may move to the St. Petersburg-Clearwater area in Florida.

ART SHERMAN, rector of St. John's Church in Lancaster, Pennsylvania, celebrated the nuptial masses at the marriage of his son, Stephen to Heather McPherson Hainey in June of 1976. Steve is in the Air Force and stationed at Rickenbacker AFB, Ohio. Again on January 1, 1977, he celebrated the nuptial masses at the marriage of his son, Christopher, to Jacqueline Boles. Son Chris is with Cablevision in Warren, Ohio.

ERICK HOEGBERG has been transferred to Princeton, New Jersey by FMC Corporation and is now doing patent liaison work in the agricultural chemical division at the Chemical Research and Development Center.

There has been a pleasant response to the Alumni News cards recently sent out. Keep them coming in men from around the globe. Although a number of our illustrious brethren have allegedly retired we also find that new careers are underway.

KEVIN DUNNE of Campobello, South Carolina, has started a new textile by-products firm, Dunne & Hill. He also reports his third son starting college at Washington & Lee this fall.

GREG GABOURY reports from Florida that he is now retired, is studying economics at the University of Florida, playing plenty of golf and has bought a new home in Gainesville, Florida. He also reports two grandchildren living in the Detroit area, a reason for some of his acknowledged traveling. Your Secretary remembers Greg as an outstanding soccer goaltender.

HERB HALL writes from Princeton, New Jersey that his firm is active worldwide in Air Pollution Control Systems. Proudly he also advises that daughter, Molly, has received her M.D. from Cornell and now is an intern. Two sons are enroute to medical and law degrees.

The word from Durham, England is that The Rev. HENRY HAYDEN is on a 1977 summer exchange and carrying out parish activities as well as a chaplaincy at St. Aiden's College, Durham University.

The RICHARD HART family reports that Kate enjoyed a spring visit to daughter, Hilary, now living in Hawaii with her Coast Guard stationed husband.

EUGENE LIEDER from Austin, Texas reports that he is now definitely retired.

RICHARD LEGGETT advises that his family is all well and he had a delightful telephone call visit from GREG GABOURY on Memorial Day about a N.Y. Yankee ballgame they attended on that day in 1938. Time marches on but memories sustain.

My apologies to each reader for an error in my June/July material. A delightful note from C.C. JOHNSON SPINK advises that he will continue as president and publisher of the Sporting News until 1982 and thereafter as a consultant. The newsweekly is now in its 92nd year. Johnson also reports that he is working closely with MATT BIRMINGHAM '42. Both men are doubtless "working" longer hours per day than they did as students.

DICK ONDERDONK visited BOB BODKIN who is the current headmaster, Marvelwood School, Cornwall, Connecticut. His son, REYNOLDS '76, now lives in Hartford.

CHARLIE WALKER has marked his 22nd anniversary as musical conductor of the Hunter College Playhouse in New York, serving as director of the recent production, "Yeomen of the Guard." Since 1951, Charlie has been organist and choirmaster of the Church of the Heavenly Rest in New York City. He also recently completed a term as president of the American Guild of Organists.

GUS ANDRIAN and wife, Peggy, have recently returned from a pleasant sojourn in Spain.

DICK MORRIS was indirectly honored at ceremonies in Liscannor, County Clare, Ireland, where he was hailed as the author who brought Liscannor native, John P. Holland, inventor of the modern submarine, back into history. Captain Laurence Wrigley, U.S.N., commander USS Holland, stationed in Holy Loch, Scotland, was the principal speaker. After the ceremonies he presented especially inscribed copies of Dick's book on Holland to several of the dignitaries who attended the ceremonies. A report of the affair appeared in The Irish Times on Monday, July 11.

FRANK F. FASI, currently serving his third four-year term as mayor of Honolulu, received an honorary Doctor of Humanities degree from the Secretary of Education and Culture of the Philippines. He received the degree for his "outstanding and exemplary service in community works in the developing countries of the Asian Pacific Region." Also on a recent trip to Taiwan, Frank received the Order of the Brilliant Star from the Republic of China, the highest decoration awarded by the government to a foreigner.

Dr. MICHAEL A. ZACCARI of San Antonio

Texas, the executive director of the Alliance of Child Development Associations, has been co-author and co-researcher on three papers dealing with child care: "Opinions on Day Care and Social Policy," "An Administrative Review on Federal Standards," and "A Position Paper on the Roles of Governments on Standards, Regulations and Laws for Day Care."

The Rev. HENRY GOETZ, who formerly had a parish in San Antonio, has moved to Scottsdale, Arizona.

KEN ALBRECHT plans on attending our 35th Reunion this fall and is hoping to renew old friendships.

DICK COBB reports that he has a new home and a new job. Dick writes that he has moved to within walking distance of his "ketch" at 2395 Filbert Street, San Francisco, California 94123. He also writes that he is regional manager for American Brass and Iron Foundry, "the largest cast iron foundry west of the Mississippi" and that his organization owns and operates a large plastic pipe plant under the aforementioned name.

CHET WARD writes that he was graduated from Emory University, Atlanta, Georgia in August 1976 with an L.L.M. in taxation and is presently senior partner in the law firm of Ward & Ward, P.O. Box 1922, Spartanburg, South Carolina. Chet also advises that his partner is his wife (as of October 9, 1976), the former Gayllis Robinson, B.A. Magna Cum Laude 1972, Emory University, J.D. 1975, L.L.M. in Taxation, 1976, Emory University. The Class of 1943 extends heartiest congratulations to Chet.

CARLOS RICHARDSON was married to Jean Dodson on Friday, May 20, 1977 in the First Unitarian Church, 4190 Front Street, San Diego, California. The Class extends heartiest congratulations to Carlos. Carlos sent a copy of his wedding invitation which contains a drawing of an airplane and provided the following by way of explanation: "There's a story behind the logo — on February 21, 1977 Jean and I were returning from Baja, California and experienced unforecast headwinds which depleted my fuel — I lost both engines with the runway in sight but elected to ditch (at night) in San Diego Bay. Jean and I swam to shore (40 feet) and after that we finalized our plans to get married." It would appear their major problems are behind them.

GORDON POTTER advises us that he was married on August 1, 1975 to the former Mrs. Nancy Q. Riker and the Class extends heartiest congratulations. Moreover, Gordon writes that he has four stepchildren as a result of this marriage, one of whom, Cynthia S. Riker, is attending Trinity, Class of 1978. Gordon resides at 10 Broadmoor Drive, Rumson, New Jersey 07769, where his telephone number is (201) 842-1656. His business is Turner Subs. Agency, 235 Park Avenue S., New York, New York 10003, telephone (212) 254-4454.

JIM DENNY writes that he was busy as coordinator of the 28th Annual Conference for Supervision Management held March 27, 28, & 29 in Morgantown, West Virginia. He writes that the Industrial Engineering Department of West Virginia University worked closely with industry and several chapters of the American Institute of Industrial Engineers on the project.

We were pleased to hear that JOSEPH (Winkie) BENNETT is practicing internal medicine in Paoli, Pa. and is coping with poverty resulting from: daughter Kimberlea (age 20) attending Gettysburg College, Penelope (18) attending the University of Richmond, Amy Jo (16) attending Agnes Irwin School, and sons Wade (14) and Matthew (6) at the Haverford School. Winkie reports that his wife is an aspiring political observer, who is slightly to the right of James Buckley.

JOHN BIDDLE, after being a widower for five years, married Amy Van Roden in Bryn Mawr, Pa. on March 5th. With John's two children and Amy's three, they live at 607 Winsford Rd. in Bryn Mawr. John continues to travel around the country each winter presenting his sailing-film-show lectures to over 75 audiences. His 1977 show features the Tall Ships that were assembled for the Bicentennial Year.

DAN LOHNES took over as athletic director in August 1976 at the St. Andrews School in Middletown, Delaware. He also is the head football coach. We hear also that his daughter, Victoria, finished at the University of New Hampshire last Christmas, was married in March, and now lives in Valejo, California. Dan reports BOB MOSS '67 teaches at St. Andrews and SANDY OGILBY (our ex-prexy's son) is chaplain.

Our classmate JAMES M. PERRY, former political and national affairs editor for the recently defunct National Observer, has changed jobs to that other branch of Dow Jones known as The Wall Street Journal, as their Washington Correspondent for P & N/A. Jim and his wife will continue to reside on Wolfe Street in Old Alexandria, Va., along with daughters Greta (22) and Kathie (20), who are a senior and sophomore, respectively, at Ohio Wesleyan University.

Your Secretary has survived his fourth year as treasurer at the Postal Service (seems like twenty), built a new house (with self as architect and general contractor), in McLean, Virginia, and in mid-August welcomed his trim wife, Lee, back from a month long back-pack trip through the wilds of Wyoming.

It's been a good couple of months for notes from many of you, but there remain enough classmates from whom we haven't heard from in years to fill a small auditorium. What's happening with all of you?

JOHN HEYL, who left the position of alumni director of Trinity several years ago to do fund raising for Harvard Business School, assumed a new, and what sounds like a fascinating, position last spring as a special assistant for private resources at Woods Hole (Massachusetts) Oceanographic Institution.

Also in financial work, though of a slightly different kind, we hear that DAVE PEAKE was recently named assistant vice president of Fidelity Mutual Life Insurance Company in Philadelphia. Another insurance appointment is RICH FLYNN who last spring became manager of expense allocation in the corporate accounting department at the Aetna Life & Casualty Company here in Hartford.

Anderson

Still another of our financially oriented colleagues is TOM ANDERSON who was recently promoted to the position of a vice president at Hartford National Bank. Tom will also continue there as manager of the systems planning group of the Financial Industry Systems which is the bank's data resource management partnership.

In the academic vein, we hear that GEORGE BOYD was graduated this spring from the Dickinson College School of Law. Recent notes from our college faculty classmates tell us that PETE KOEHN was just promoted to associate professor of political science at the University of Montana, and CAL BRADFORD is at the University of Illinois, Chicago Circle Campus, where he is assistant professor in the College of Urban Sciences and associate director of the Center for Urban Studies.

On behalf of the whole class we congratulate TOM MITCHELL who recently received the "Bituminous Coal Research Award" from the American Chemical Society for the "most outstanding paper on coal or derived products" presented at the ACS Convention last year. Tom continues to serve as senior research chemist with Mobil Research and Development Corporation, Princeton, New Jersey, where his primary research at the moment is centered on coal liquefaction.

Also deserving of congratulations is STEVE PARKS whose first full length play, "Manby," was presented this summer by the Taos (New Mexico) Theatre Company.

We heard from three classmates this month who are directly or indirectly involved in real estate. KEN GEREMIA was promoted last February to director of public relations for the National Association of Home Builders in Washington, D.C. ED LEWIS is at the other end of the country in Marin County, California where he writes that he is busy and happy selling residential land and investment properties with the Grubb and Ellis Company. Finally in the real estate area we heard from ARNIE SCHWARTZMAN who is now vice president of the Schear Group, Inc., Dayton, Ohio, where he is in charge of real estate development, construction, property management, and commercial brokerage. Arnie says that he recently spent time in New York City with CARY JACKSON, and in Washington, D.C. with ELLIS RATNER. He apparently really gets around as well, because he wrote that he ran into JEFF DIERMAN recently in Las Vegas.

We heard from CHARLES FIORDALIS, whom ice cream lovers will be pleased to know, recently bought a Baskin-Robbins ice cream store in Cleveland Heights, Ohio. Charlie is apparently busy, because he also serves as president of his own company, Medicomp, a medical laboratory testing center.

MARTY GALL, who continues to work as a research chemist at Upjohn Company, writes that he is chairing a session at the IUPAC meeting in Tokyo, Japan this September.

As we were finishing the notes for this issue, we got a call from CHARLIE BARRINGER whom, you may recall from a previous column, has been working in Niger for Texaco. Charlie is back in the States, and as of September expects to be here on at least a slightly more permanent basis. Charlie said he enjoyed the challenge of Africa but, as he put it, he is "happy to get back to some other aspects of civilization notable by their absence in Africa."

That wraps it up for now; keep in touch, and again I remind you to send me the names of classmates from whom you haven't heard in some time and I will try and follow them up to see where they are.

Tenth Reunion is October 7-9: It is hard to believe that our 10th year reunion is fast approaching. All of you should have received by now invitations from BOB BRINKLEY and DOUG JACOBS. The Reunion Weekend is scheduled from Friday, October 7th to Sunday, October 9th. It should be quite an exciting time beginning with the class cocktail party on Friday night, the Trinity-Williams football and soccer games Saturday afternoon and a Reunion/Homecoming dinner dance on Saturday evening. I hope you filled out the personal profile for our class so we can have an updated directory for our class members. In addition, you should have sent your reservation back by August 31st to receive a free drink — the "Trinity Blitz."

We Get Letters From All Over The World Department: TED RUCKERT sent a nice complementary letter from the U.S. Naval Regional Medical Center in Okinawa, Japan. He's been chief of OB-GYN at the U.S. Army Hospital in Okinawa for the past two years. He finally completed his military obligation last July. According to Ted, he found the experience to be rewarding both professionally and culturally. While running a very active OB service ("What else can people do at night with only one TV station in English?"), he had the opportunity to travel extensively throughout the Far East, including Japan, Taiwan, Hong Kong, Singapore, Philippines, Malaysia and Indonesia. By the time you read this, Ted will have taken a camping trip through the Northwest and located himself at 66 Buffard Drive, Rochester, New York 14610. According to Ted, "anyone passing through the area should avail themselves of the meager prices for room and board" at his house. Finally, Ted indicated he is eager to return to Trinity this fall for our 10th reunion. He is looking forward to seeing everyone after this first decade. So, let's make sure we go to the reunion and get to meet Ted and all our fellow classmates.

Another "Ted" wrote from the East coast: TED HUTTON is enjoying the Washington metropolitan area where, as an associate publisher with Harper and Row in Hagerstown, Maryland, he is in charge of two departments and finds it very rewarding and challenging.

Also, in the D.C. area is PETER HELLER and his wife, Jane, who has become an associate of Covington and Burling. Peter has taken on a job as an economist with the International Monetary Fund. They are living at 3619 Fordham Road in NW Washington. BOB RATCLIFF just moved to 9001 Highland Drive in Adelphi, Maryland. He has been an attorney for the Federal Communications Commission since March, 1975.

Moving up the coast to Wilmington, Delaware is AL RAWLS who has just been promoted to associate actuary with Continental American Life Insurance Company. Last fall Al became a Fellow of the Society of Actuaries. Also in Wilmington is DAVID ANDERSON who recently became a partner in the law firm of Potter, Anderson and Corroon.

Promotions Department: MIKE McLEAN was promoted on April 1 to lieutenant commander (LCDR). He expects to remain as engineering officer on board the USS Robert E. Peary till February, 1978. After that his plans are up in the air.

Also promoted in the Armed Forces is Lieutenant Commander RICK LUDWIG who is based at Miramar Naval Air Station in San Diego, California. Currently he is flying in Fighter Squadron 51 transitioning to F-14 Tomcats.

Up the coast in Los Angeles we find DR. THOMAS FLOOD, assistant professor of Chemistry at USC. Tom just received an Alfred P. Sloan Research Fellow for 1977-78. He was among 95 physical scientists and mathematicians chosen from colleges and universities throughout the United States and Canada.

Back In School Department: STEWART BARNES has just enrolled in the Harvard Divinity School, where he is studying theory and practice of Christian ministry. In West Hartford, MIKE CURCIO just received his Six Year Certificate from Saint Joseph College.

Down at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, JOSH HOFFMAN wrote that he is now an assistant professor of philosophy. He and his wife, Ruth, have two boys, ages 5½ and 2.

More and more people are moving to the South and Southwest. Our class is no exception. MIKE FERGUSON has just taken a job with the Office of the General Counsel for the El Paso Natural Gas Company. He and his family just bought a home at 7617 Escondido Drive. DAVE GORDON and his wife, Jayne, and daughter, Megan, moved to San Antonio, Texas, where Dave is joining a group medical practice limited to the specialties of medical oncology and hematology.

Finally, PAUL SCHEINBERG has just completed his stint in the Navy as Flight Surgeon and returned with his bride to Atlanta where he is doing a fellowship in pulmonary medicine at Emory University Hospitals. He expects to stay on next year, too, as chief resident of one of the hospitals in the Emory system and thus has bought a home close in to the city.

CHARLES KURZ was recently in Los Angeles where he came with his wife and "minus two week" child to launch a big new oil carrying tanker.

Finally, while coming back a few days ago from a short vacation to Colorado, I met WALTER HARRIMAN who had been travelling all over the country on business. Wally had a chance to meet a number of fellow classmates during his travels and has promised to give the updated scoop for the next issue.

In the interim, while waiting for the latest news, make sure you get your plans ready to attend our reunion on October 7th through 9th.

RALPH OSER is with the office of general counsel, agency for international development, Department of State in Washington. He and his wife, Katherine, both love Washington, D.C. They spent a week in Caucum, Mexico last spring and heartily recommend it.

BARRY SABLOFF has been promoted to assistant vice president in the consumer and industrial electronics division of the corporate banking department of The First National Bank of Chicago.

JIM SWANSON is still teaching psychology, history and self-discipline to 8th graders at Marin Country Day School in drought stricken Marin County, north of San Francisco. This summer he hiked 200 miles thru the bush of Alaska's Brooks Range. Future plans call for a return to Nepal for cultural and mountaineering experiences. Hiking this year took him to Haleakala Crater on Maui, Escalante Canyon, Southern Utah, and Arizona's Sonoran Desert.

LARRY SLUTSKY is now practicing diagnostic radiology and nuclear medicine at Community General Hospital of Syracuse, New York. He would like to hear from friends in the area. Larry lives in Fayetteville, New York.

JIM WILSON has completed his first year of residency in internal medicine at the Georgia Baptist Hospital, Atlanta. He and his wife, Donna, have two children: Eric and Pamela.

JOE McKEIGUE, principal of an elementary school in Boston, has received his doctorate in education administration from Teachers College, Columbia University. Joe and his wife have four children.

Professor Paul Smyth has suspended your secretary's membership in the Frye-Smyth Fan Club because of my misspelling of NorthOp in the April issue of the Reporter. My reinstatement to be contingent upon the performance of a certain penitential rite: I must shout the phrase "Moby Dick, Moby Dick, Moby Dick" at a Russian fisherman while brandishing my clenched right fist at him in a foreboding manner.

BILL DAIBER is presently a full-time emergency room physician at the Community General Hospital in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania. He was graduated from the Philadelphia College of Osteopathic Medicine in June, 1974.

GEORGE DUNKEL is teaching at Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, Maryland. He received his doctorate in 1976 from the University of Pennsylvania.

ALAN GIBBY has written that he is quite excited and enthusiastic about a promotion which he has just received. He starts the upcoming school year as assistant headmaster of The Lancaster Country Day School in Lancaster, Pennsylvania.

Since he hasn't submitted anything to the Reporter from the time he graduated, ALAN GLADSTONE has given us a thumbnail sketch of what has happened in his life since then: In March of 1974 he married Wendy Rossi; he was graduated from the College of Physicians and Surgeons in May of 1974; he was then a resident in internal medicine at St. Luke's Hospital Center in New York City. Alan began a fellowship in cardiology at Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center in New York City in July. When he completes his formal training, he hopes to practice medicine in Western New England. His wife, who is a resident in pediatrics, was expecting their first child in June.

DAVID GOLDBERG has harkened to the call of the wild boar! He has moved to Jeffersonville, Vermont and has bought a farm in Fletcher, Vermont for the purpose of raising pigs.

TOM GRABER plans to move to Chicago to take on a residency in emergency residency. He has just completed two years at the Harvard Primary Care Program.

CHARLES SAGER left the massive Citibank organization in November in order to see the other side of the financial world. He is now in a small organization where he works actively on a large venture capital portfolio.

DAVE SHIPMAN received his M.B.A. in finance from Wharton School of Business in Philadelphia in December, 1976. He is currently working for Haskins & Sells as a management consultant. He writes that JOHN McKINNEY is at Wharton working for his M.B.A. in the health care area and TOM DIGHT is still employed by Hilton Hotels but has been transferred to the Franchise Division in Walden, New York.

Professor Norton Downs has been kind enough to inform us that BILL NEWBURY published an article in the March issue of Horticulture.

DON HAWLEY, JON EMERY, JIM FINKELSTEIN, and PETER GRAPE '75 joined CHARLIE MOORE '75 for a gala July 4th celebration in Annisquam, Massachusetts. An awesome time was had by all.

Well, the pen is a bit weary. This has to be the Class of '74's best representation in months — keep those cards and letters coming.

75 Mr. Gary Morgans
638 Independence Ave. SE#2
Washington, DC 20003

A lot of people have written in this month from many different areas. I hope a good number of '75ers will be able to make it back to school for homecoming this October.

From the north woods of Michigan, JEFF FORD writes that he is now a partner with Noggle Associates, an excavating and general contracting firm. Jeff, who has been a carpenter for the last two years, finished building a log home for himself last summer. There is no rest for the axe wielder, however, for Jeff was recently married, and will be adding on to make more room. Jeff says that he gets to see MIKE GETZ and ROB ROBINSON '74 every now and then when they venture out of Detroit's urban sprawl.

MIKE GETZ notes that he and his wife, Kathy, ROB ROBINSON and his wife Kiki, and MARK CLEARY also spent a week in Mexico last June. Mike made no reference to the allegedly intolerable conditions of Grosse Pointe Park.

TOM BRAY is still with the Social Security Administration, and is now a social insurance claims representative. Tom is living in Easton, Pennsylvania, but hopefully gets an occasional chance to journey to the hills of his native land, Palmerton, Pennsylvania.

In metropolitan Carlisle, Pennsylvania, BILL LEVY has begun his final year at Dickinson School of Law. Last year Bill was selected as a member of the National Appellate Moot Court Team at Dickinson. CARL SHELLY has also entered his third year of law school at the University of Pittsburgh.

MICHAEL POGUE is now working as a writer with Advertising Management, Inc., of Cincinnati, Ohio. He notes that he and his wife, Janet Asbury, have decided to forego children for a few years.

NANCY MOORE, who is pursuing a doctorate in folklore at Indiana University's Folklore Institute, was recently appointed assistant editor of the Journal of the Folklore Institute. Nancy is most interested in maritime, automotive, American and Middle Eastern folklore.

DONNA EPSTEIN spent the summer relaxing after completing an M.A. in sociology at Northwestern University in Chicago. She will start a two year M.A. program in social development at the University of Chicago in September.

Donna was recently in touch with RONA

RICE, who is working on her MBA at NYU, with an emphasis in arts administration. CHIP ROME is also at NYU — studying theatre — and hopes to return to his teaching job in England if work permit problems can be solved. In Syracuse, DAVE and BETH (FERRO) MITCHELL are both working on their Ph.D.'s in biology. Beth's first article was recently published. Finally, Donna writes that she and BILL BARROWS '76 were planning to drive out to Aspen, Colorado in early September to enjoy the great outdoors before the fall term began.

Down in Fort Smith, Arkansas, KEVIN BAKER is working as a comptroller's associate for American Can. Kevin received his MBA in finance and accounting from the University of Chicago last June.

RUDY MONTGELAS has entered graduate school in electrical engineering at the University of Texas at Austin, and sends his regards to the temperate regions of the nation. Rudy has been working as an associate programmer in IBM's office products division.

In New York City, LYMAN DELANO continues to work in the Personal Investment Management Division at Bankers Trust. Bankers Trust itself is becoming the Trinity of NYC, with GREG DUFFY, VICKEY TILNEY PAGE, ABBY COLLIER '76, and exchange student Allison Mellor recently joining the staff.

Back among the Boston contingent is POPPY OLIVE MOTLEY, who is an account coordinator with Hill, Holliday Advertising. Poppy is happily involved in a "low level" of advertising, and loves being back in Boston (and suburban Belmont for now). Her husband, George, should be starting his second year at Harvard Business School this fall, as will TONY PICCIRILLO, who reports that he is having a great time at the school. BONNIE ALEXANDRE is also, in town, and is working at Fanning Personnel in Boston, where DEBBIE DONOHUE used to work.

LIBBY HESS writes that she is living in Wilton, Vermont, and working in Burlington for the Vermont Department of Employment Security, finding jobs for people and people for jobs, and loving Vermont through it all.

Over in "beautiful, bustling, Bawlamer," STEVE BROWN has finished his second year at the University of Maryland Medical School. Steve is a Baltimore native. JEFF CLARK has moved to Washington, D.C., and has just entered graduate school at American University. In an unrelated event, DOUGIE CLARK's name was misspelled in the last issue, for which we apologize.

SCOTT HAYIM and I are entering our third year of law school at Georgetown in Washington, and will soon be hitting the three piece suit trail. I spent this summer working as a law clerk with the Federal Power Commission's Office of General Counsel. While there I had the pleasure of meeting ED MARK '58, who is an attorney in the natural gas producers section, and BOB SHAPIRO '73, an attorney in the electric rates section.

I occasionally see ANDY WOLFE '73, who remains with the FTC. Andy is about to complete his first year as fire marshal for the 11th floor of his building, a year marked by not a single flaming incident. Several months ago I got a chance to see MATT MOLOSHOK '74, who graduated from George Washington University Law School last June.

GORDON BURKETT celebrates his first wedding anniversary to Terry Richards on September 11. Gordon has started graduate work in Computer Sciences at Northwestern and intends to go on for his Ph.D.

DAN REESE has been appointed director of Connecticut's Washington Office. His job is to keep Connecticut's Congressional delegation informed of the state's position on legislative matters and to lobby for that position as best he can.

Any news is always welcome, so drop a line and let your classmates know what you're up to.

76 Mr. Eugene Shen
Fletcher Hall
Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy
Tufts University
Medford, MA 02155

Another eventful summer has passed and it would be interesting to hear from all of you about how you spent it. It is encouraging to see all the news that has come in so far.

Citytrust Bank of Bridgeport, Connecticut announced the appointment in June of NAT GIFFORD as a trust investment officer.

ANN CHESNES is at the University of Wisconsin in Madison doing graduate work in East Asian history and feels Madison deserving of the name "Mad City."

SALLY TARBELL is living in Toronto and enjoying the city when she isn't working on her Masters in clinical psychology.

If you have been to any rock concerts lately, you may have bumped into PETER HANSEN who is booking major rock acts in New England and the Midwest.

MARK ECKMAN has received his Masters in biomedical engineering at Northwestern University and has now started at Albany Med School in upstate New York.

After working for the Senate's Temporary Committee on Committees headed by Adlai Stevenson, JEAN BECKWITH is now at WPFW Pacifica in Washington, D.C.

JACK ORRICK has finished a year as a paralegal in Baltimore and is now planning to attend law school.

ANDREW BASSFORD is living in Hartford and frequently playing in a band called "The Venturians."

BOB MESNARD has traveled to Italy twice in the past year and is in Washington for a year before attending law school.

LISA HEILBRONN is pursuing a doctorate in sociology at the University of California, Berkeley.

STEVE ALPERN is teaching environmental science and biology in the Baltimore City schools.

CHARLIE COHN spent the past year in England at the Worcester College of Oxford University studying European history.

SCOTT THOMPSON starts his second year at the Graduate School of Business at Columbia University after being elected secretary of the Business School.

LESLIE HYDE is in Boston working for Cahners Publishing Company.

After completing one year of study at Cincinnati Medical School, DAVID MERIWETHER says he's at the top of his class.

MARGOT JAFFE has finished her first year in the dual degree program at the Columbia University School of Dental and Oral Surgery and Columbia's School of Public Health.

JOHN GATES has been working as a special assistant to the Governor of Illinois, but says that the work and the travel have cut into his squash game and other social activities.

JODY SCALA was recently awarded a National Science Foundation Fellowship and will be attending Brown University after a year at the Marine Biological Laboratories in Woods Hole, Massachusetts.

BARBARA SOBOTKA lived in Cologne, Germany since October of 1976 at a girl's home helping around the house and counselling on the side. She audited a few courses at the university and traveled quite a bit. She has now returned to the States to start the job search.

TERRI PASQUINE continues her work at the Harvard School of Public Health as a research assistant in the Department of Nutrition. Her research involves the metabolic aspects of obesity with investigations carried out on genetically obese mice. She attends Northeastern University part-time, working toward a Masters in pharmacology.

Toby Chamberlain '78 was best man and Roger Schreck '77 was an usher at the wedding (see Weddings) of STEVE TRIGGS.

Speaking of weddings, Your Secretary was married to PAULA GALIETTE on July 23. PETER LEOVITZ was best man — he spent his summer at the Continental Group, N.Y. in the Corporate Strategic Planning Division before returning to the Amos Tuck School of Business in the Fall. WILLIAM BROWN was an usher — he returned from the mountains and lakes of Maine to be with us. Debbie Donahue '75 was a bridesmaid — she is now in New York working for the Little, Brown Publishing Company. CICI CHICK was also a bridesmaid — she is a paralegal in Boston. ROB FERNALD was the organist — he was recently promoted in the Money Market of the First National Bank of Boston. CARLYLE FRASER was a Lector — he is working for a BMW dealership in Weston, Massachusetts.

Many Trin faces graced the celebration. HOBIE PORTER and CAROL MONAGHAN made the trip from Philadelphia. JIM GASCOIGNE and CHIP GOODE, made the trip from the Big Apple; JIM is in the Credit Department of Bankers Trust Company and Chip has returned to his own element in the Bean Town working for none other than Goode Fad, I mean Ford. GREER CANDLER, NANCY MOTLEY, ALISON KAYE, ELLEN MANN, and DAVID ROUNTREE made the trip from Boston. ELAINE FELDMAN was also there and is now back in school in Ithaca, New York at the Cornell School of Labor Relations. STEPHEN GARNER told us that he would be teaching history and coaching soccer at St. Mark's School. SUSIE LEWIS and Joe Kluger '77 returned to New York where SUSIE is in her second year at New York University's School of Law. NANCY OPENSHAW brought greetings from Rowayton, Connecticut.

ELIZABETH FREEDGOOD, who left our ranks for the University of Pennsylvania and graduated cum laude in Russian language and literature and an M.A. in Russian from there, is currently attending Tulane University School of Law in New Orleans.

It's hard to keep up with all the interesting things people are doing so please try to keep those letters coming in and relay news of others. Late news has it that CHARLIE STEWART made a trip to Manila in the Philippines with an import-export firm out of Pittsburgh. TOM SCHULTZ has found a job with a brokerage house in New York. GINO BARRA is helping his father out at Barra of Italy on Park Avenue in New York.

The 100th Anniversary of Trinity Football will be celebrated this Fall at Homecoming — hope to see you all there!

Survivors include her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald J. St. Cyr and her sister, Mrs. Jane S. Nicholson.

WILLIAM FRANCIS MAURER, 1951

William F. Maurer, 49, died May 17 at a Morristown, New Jersey hospital. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Anna Doyle Maurer; three sons, William F. Maurer, Jr., Robert D. Maurer and Scott E. Maurer.

Born in Hartford, he entered Trinity in 1947. He was a metallurgist for 24 years with Pratt & Whitney Aircraft Group in East Hartford.

Mr. Maurer served in the Navy during World War II, and was an Army veteran of the Korean conflict. He was a member of St. Christopher's Church in Parsippany, New Jersey, where he resided at the time of his death.

ABRAHAM JEHIEL FELDMAN, HON. 1953

Dr. Abraham J. Feldman, ecumenist, national spokesman for American Jews, civic leader, author and rabbi at West Hartford's Temple Beth Israel for 52 years died July 21. He was 84.

He was known throughout the country as a champion of liberal, Reform Judaism, serving on every national Reform board.

A native of Kiev, Russia, he earned a bachelor's degree from Cincinnati University in 1917 and later degrees of bachelor of Hebrew literature and an honorary doctor of divinity from the Hebrew Union College in Cincinnati.

He was also recipient of honorary degrees from Hartt College of Music, University of Hartford, Parsons College and Trinity.

Rabbi Feldman served in temples in New York City, Georgia and Philadelphia before coming to Hartford.

In 1973 the Trustees of the Congregation Beth Israel commemorated his 70th birthday, his 45th wedding anniversary and the 45th year of his ordination by establishing scholarships in his name at Trinity and the University of Hartford.

Formal recognition of his contributions by civic and religious groups included the American Jewish Committee Human Relations Award (1973), the City Council's City of Hartford Medal (1968), the National Conference of Christians and Jews Award (1969) and Freedom Foundation Awards (1956, 1958 and 1975).

His national reputation brought him invitations from the White House on several occasions and two missions to Hawaii and the Far East for the U.S. Defense Department.

Rabbi Feldman is survived by his wife, Mrs. Helen Bloch Feldman; a son, Daniel B. Feldman; two daughters, Mrs. Charles Norwood and Mrs. Jerome W. Mecklenburger; eight grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

PETER MacGREGOR FRASER, Hon. 1955

Peter M. Fraser, former president and chairman of Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Co., died May 31 in Hartford.

Born March 10, 1891 in East Orange, New Jersey, he attended public schools in Newark, New Jersey and Brooklyn, New York.

He began his career with Connecticut Mutual Life as a co-general agent in 1918 and, after four years, became a general agent. He advanced to vice president in 1930 and a year later was elected to the board of directors. In 1945 he became president and retained that position until 1955, when he became chairman of the company. After retiring in 1957, he continued as a director until 1970 when he joined Connecticut Mutual Life's advisory council, where he served for the next four years.

Mr. Fraser formerly held directorships at Connecticut Bank & Trust Co., Heublein Inc., the former Phoenix Fire Insurance Co., and United Technologies Corp.

At the time of his death, he was chairman of the executive committee and a director of Mohasco Industries, New York.

For many years, Mr. Fraser was president and director of the Newington (Connecticut) Children's Hospital and a director of Hartford Hospital. He was a former member of Connecticut's Finance Committee and the State Prison Parole Board. In the 1940's, Mr. Fraser was chairman of the Red Cross War Fund and president of the Community Chest War Fund.

In 1955 Trinity awarded him an honorary doctor of law degree. He also received an honorary doctor of law degree from the University of Miami and an honorary doctor of science degree in business administration from Clarkson Memorial College of Technology.

Mr. Fraser is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mable Wark Fraser; a son, Peter M. Fraser, Jr.; a daughter, Mrs. Frank Alberts; a granddaughter and two great-grandchildren.

JANET ANNE YELLEN, MS 1962

Miss Janet A. Yellen, 42, of Bethesda, Maryland, died on May 23 in Washington, D.C. Born in Hartford, she lived in Glastonbury for many years before moving to Bethesda.

She received her undergraduate degree from the College of New Rochelle, and was graduated from Trinity College with a Masters degree in mathematics.

At the time of her death, she was with the research department of the National Bureau of Standards, Technical Analysis Division. Miss Yellen was a member of the Association of Computing Machinery, Washington Operations Research Council.

Miss Yellen leaves her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Yellen; a brother Kenneth Yellen; and a sister Mrs. William Peterson.

LOREN EISELEY, HON. 1975

Loren Eiseley, anthropologist, educator and author, died July 9 in Pennsylvania. The recipient of numerous honorary degrees, he was awarded a Doctor of Humane Letters degree from Trinity in 1975. At the time of his death, he was the Benjamin Franklin and University Professor of Anthropology and History of Science at the University of Pennsylvania.

Born in 1907 in Lincoln, Nebraska, he graduated in 1933 from the University of Nebraska. While a graduate student at the University of Pennsylvania, he developed an interest in anthropology. After teaching at the University of Kansas and Oberlin, Dr. Eiseley joined the faculty of the University of Pennsylvania in 1947. In addition to his faculty position there, he was a curator at the University Museum, and served as provost of the University from 1959 to 1961.

Dr. Eiseley's national reputation was established through his books. They included "The Immense Journey" (1957), "Darwin's Century" (1958), "The Firmament of Time" (1960), "The Unexpected Universe" (1969), "The Night Country" (1975), and his autobiography "All the Strange Hours" (1975). A collection of his poetry will be published in the fall.

Dr. Eiseley is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mabel Langdon Eiseley.

WILLIAM STREIT CUNNINGHAM, 1976

William S. Cunningham, of Watertown, Connecticut, died suddenly at Waterbury Hospital on June 6.

Born in Waterbury on December 8, 1952, he graduated from the McTernan School in Waterbury and Taft School, Watertown. A transfer student from the University of Rochester, he entered Trinity with the Class of 1976. While at Trinity he was a member of the varsity hockey team. He was presently attending Waterbury State Technical School.

Mr. Cunningham is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph I. Cunningham and a sister, Mrs. H.R. Wofford.

Rebuilding Defense Key To Varsity Football Success

In 1976 the Trinity football Bantams used many untested and inexperienced players in producing a highly respectable 6-2 record. They were undefeated halfway through the season after handing Middlebury its only loss of the year. Only an upset loss to Colby and a still-unbelievable Wesleyan game were low points of the season.

The competition this year is the same as last, and it is sure to be just as tough and exciting. The atmosphere surrounding the team in blue and gold will be heightened by the 100th anniversary celebration. It is indeed fitting that this year's Reunion/Homecoming Weekend opponent is Williams College. This rivalry is the oldest among Trinity's present competition, dating back to 1884.

The 1977 Trinity College varsity football team has 29 returning lettermen, ten of whom were starters (six offense, four defense) on last year's team. The graduation of 19 seniors hurts the Bantams most defensively, particularly in the secondary where three starters and three reserves were seniors. Also, two defensive ends must be found to fill the positions left by Grabowski and Uluski, two of the 1976 captains. Offensively, the other captain, fullback Pat Heffernan, has also graduated; his vacancy is a big one as he was the leading ground gainer for Trinity in each of the past three seasons.

The Trinity defense has been impressive over the past two seasons. In 1976 it had a chance of breaking several College defensive records (least first downs, yards rushing) until the disappointing final game against Wesleyan. Much rebuilding will be needed this year if the excellent performance is to continue.

Only senior co-captain Dave Poulin, defensive tackle, and junior Barry Dorfman, middle guard, return as starters in the defensive line. Jack McDonald, who missed all of last season with a knee injury, will compete for the other tackle spot with fellow senior Dave Henderson. The defensive end positions are wide open; competing for those spots will be senior Jim Leone, juniors Jim Davis and Jim Silvestri, and sophomores Jeff Mather and Gene Russell. Mather was the outstanding defensive player on last year's 4-1 frosh team.

Junior Joe Delano returns as linebacker, but the status of the other linebacker position in the Bantam's 5-2 set is uncertain. Mike Leverone, who led the team in tackles from that spot in 1976, is eligible to play, but has not yet made a decision whether or not he will. Without Leverone, top competitors for the position will be Brian O'Donoghue '78 (knee injury caused him to sit out last year) along with sophomores Meyer, Yarnall, and Blake.

The only returning defensive back with any experience is junior John Flynn, a starter for most of 1976. Floyd Monroe '78 will be joined by juniors Bruce Shea, Bill Irving, Hank Bouhuys, and sophomores Bob Almquist and Tom McGowan in competition for the other three secondary positions.

The Bantam's multiple formation offensive attack will be under the direction of quarterback Mike Foye '79, who as a sophomore led the team in passing while serving as the number two signal caller. Senior Rob Claflin will remain as a backup quarterback, but will see primary duty as a running back or receiver.

Despite the loss of Heffernan, the Trinity running attack will be strong in 1977. Returning seniors Mike Brennan and Larry Moody will be joined by Claflin, Paul Votze '79, and Jim Rickert '80 in the Bantam backfield.

Marc Montini '78 will return as tight end; his speed is uncommon for that position. The split end spot, vacated by speedster Tom Lines, is open with intense competition expected among senior Jim Smith, junior Bill McCandless, and sophomore Pat McNamara.

Co-captain Karl Herbst '78 will lead the offensive line from his left tackle position. Other returning starters are right tackle John Doldoorian '78 and right guard Tom Heffernan '78. Junior Scott Ramsay is the top candidate for the other guard position. Most of the offensive line backup roles will be filled by sophomores. The center position will be played by either junior Tom Johnson or sophomore Steve Sullivan.

Mike Brennan will again handle the punting chores for Trinity, while Bill McCandless will do the placekicking. In 1976 McCandless led the team in scoring with 38 points; he used his unorthodox but accurate technique to tie Mike Maus' record of three field goals in one game in the win over Middlebury.

SENIOR FOOTBALL CO-CAPTAINS Dave Poulin (78) and Karl Herbst (67) with head coach Don Miller. Poulin anchors the defensive line from his tackle position and Herbst does the same for offensive line.

Women's Crew Begins Second Varsity Season

The women's crew has a new coach and a schedule of five regattas as it prepares for the 1977 fall season, its second year of varsity competition. Andy Anderson '75 is the women's coach, having returned to Trinity last spring to coach the men's freshman crew. His freshman program was quite successful, with the lightweights winning a national championship at the Dad Vail Regatta.

The crew will have the month of September to prepare for their competitive season which begins with a full slate on the second weekend of October.

On October 8 the Bantam women will journey north on the Connecticut River to Holyoke, Massachusetts for the Greater Holyoke Regatta. Coach Anderson will take his team south to Middletown, Connecticut on the very next day for the Head of the Connecticut Regatta. Last year Trinity was awarded first place medals for their performance in the Holyoke competition which was not completed because of wind and rain.

The following Saturday, October 15, will see Trinity hosting the women's crew from Simsbury High School. The only other home contest for the Trinity oarswomen will be the Goodwin Cup Race on October 29 against crews from Barnard College and Mt. Holyoke College. In between the two home regattas, Trinity will travel to Cambridge, Massachusetts to participate in the traditional Head of the Charles Regatta.

The 1977 women's crew outlook is bright as there was only one senior on the 1976 crew. Captain Anne Fickling '79 will lead the experienced oarswomen in enthusiastic preparation for the upcoming season.

Varsity Soccer Seeks Continued Improvement

This year's varsity soccer team will have a lot of leadership and experience in the form of eight seniors, including tri-captains Aaron Thomas, Tom Lenahan, and Mike Kluger. In 1976, Coach Robie Shults' first varsity year, the Bantams produced a fine 7-4-1 season, the first winning Trinity soccer season since 1970. At the end of the fall they were ranked #10 in Division I of the New England Intercollegiate Soccer League.

In 1977 the Bantam booters will be a Division III member of the same league; playing the same schedule of opponents, Trinity has a good chance to equal or better last season's record. The loss of only five seniors (three starters) to graduation should hurt more offensively than defensively.

The three captains return as starting halfbacks. Alec Waugh, who recorded two shutouts in 1976, returns to the goal. Last year's defensive unit was young and inexperienced, allowing 25 goals against, but will be stronger this season. Big senior Bill Dodge, junior Jeremy Meyer and sophomore Joe Capasso will key the back line. Only senior center forward Greg Madding returns as an offensive starter. The wing positions are wide open and many players, including some incoming freshmen, will be given the opportunity to make the starting offensive unit.

Experience and depth should allow Trinity to achieve soccer success in 1977; the level of this success will depend upon Shults' ability to develop an effective offensive attack.

Optimistic Outlook For Women's Tennis

Coach Jane Millsbaugh looks forward to the 1977 women's tennis season with cautious optimism. There is a great deal of talent among the 30 women who have been selected for the varsity and junior varsity squads, and the competition is so intense that Millsbaugh is not sure whom her top players will be.

Sophomores Wendy Jennings and Betty Wallace head the list of returning players. Only one senior graduated from last year's team, which finished with a 9-2 record and second in the New England Intercollegiate Tournament, but two of the top four players will not be on the team this fall.

With the season opening in September, a major goal will be to beat Williams, the team which narrowly defeated Trinity for the New England championship in 1976.

ALUMNI/VARSITY HOCKEY GAME

The "big" game is scheduled for Saturday, November 19 at 7:30 pm at the Glastonbury Rink. All alumni interested in participating should contact John Dunham, 527-3151, ext. 285.

RAY PICKS 'EM

With courage and conviction, Ray Montgomery '25 has taken the historical occasion of the 100th anniversary of football at Trinity to compile his all-time Bantam team. (Ed. note: no comment except to suggest that flak, etc. be directed to our fearless friend at North Racebrook Road, Woodbridge, CT 06525 although he has probably already headed for the hills!)
